

"The crunch of leaves under my boots is the only sound, besides the wind whispering secrets through the branches."